Looking ahead to the next 20 years...

Future ALSWH data collection and analysis from these four groups of Australian women will continue to provide detailed evidence to support the development of health policy, and inform the type, timing and targeting of preventive health initiatives and health services.

The research on which this information is based was conducted as part of the Australian Longitudinal Study on Women’s Health, the University of Newcastle and the University of Queensland. We are grateful to the Australian Government Department of Health for funding, and to the women who provided the survey data.